

Thriving or surviving?

Among the many challenges in the workplace, nurses need to be prepared and sustained. Emotional and spiritual well being is vital to dealing with challenges in the workplace. Abuse and assertiveness are two elements relevant to workplace change.

This workshop will explore the current health environment and the resulting strains on working relationships; the use and misuse of power, and strategies to navigate through the emotional upheaval caused, in order to remain spiritually strong and able to care for your patients and each other. At the completion of the presentations, time is allowed for discussion and questions.

Nurses Christian Fellowship exists to assist nurses to find a personal faith in the Lord Jesus Christ and to encourage appropriate expression of their faith in all aspects of professional life.
